Outlook for Sunday through Thursday:

After hot temperatures statewide Sunday, a cooling trend is expected for the first half of the work week, though some moderate heat impacts could linger across the southern half of the state Monday. Dry conditions and increasing southwesterly winds could contribute to elevated or locally critical fire weather concerns early-to-mid week, especially in the mountains and foothills.

Additional moisture could return to southeastern California starting Sunday or Monday, with increased shower and thunderstorm activity possible in Southern Region through much of the upcoming work week. This includes the possibility of tropical moisture associated with Tropical Storm Nora; at the moment, it looks like the best moisture from Nora will push into primarily Arizona, but uncertainty remains about the track of Nora through the middle of next week.

California Energy Commission

- CA Fuel Status:

- Chevron distribution terminal in West Sacramento reported a contaminated diesel tank. They are working to return the tank to service.
- Chevron understands the importance of prioritizing diesel for emergency response and wants us (working in coordination with our partners) to let them know if there are any specific fuel vendors that are unable to fill their emergency fuel deliveries due to the contaminated diesel fuel tank. We are not aware of any requests or supply constraints at this time.

- Natural Gas:

- Concerning the El Paso Natural Gas (EPNG) pipeline Force Majeure and its effect on California, the CEC is monitoring the situation closely. EPNG's available delivery capacity is still higher than what the Ehrenburg receipt point can take away from the junction, so there is no impact on gas delivery volumes to California currently. Additionally, the amount of scheduled gas that will ultimately be consumed in California is still far under the total available capacity. Barring another unforeseen and/or widespread weather event like the February 2021 polar vortex, this current pipeline outage on Line 2000 in Arizona will not affect California gas supply.
 - Staff is closely monitoring conditions in Southern California and the impact of the Coolidge rupture on EPNG's southern mainline. That and other conditions on EPNG are leading to slightly lower deliveries at Ehrenberg than shippers are requesting. We believe the curtailment watch issued by SoCalGas is aimed at alerting its Southern System shippers to pay close attention to their nominations and actual usage given higher temperatures expected over the weekend. Demand overall remains in the 2.5 Bcf range.
